Forecast For Wales
Issued by Met Office Exeter
at 1600 on Sunday 24 Jan 2021

++ Valid for broadcast between 1800 and 0600

Headline:
Mostly dry start, before turning wet later in the week.

This Evening and Tonight:
Some remaining wintry showers fade during the evening to leave a largely dry and clear night, though some cloud and isolated showers linger along the northern and western coasts. Frosty and icy, with locally low temperatures where any snow lies. Minimum temperature -8 deg C (18 deg F).

Monday:
A fine day for most, though the north may see the odd localised shower during the morning. Remaining cold, especially where any snow lies. Maximum temperature 7 deg C (45 deg F).

Outlook for Tuesday to Thursday:
Rain arrives westward Tuesday morning, turning locally heavy. Drier Wednesday, before further rain arrives in the evening. Some showers remain Thursday morning, but soon clear to give a dry day.
